Transitioning from High School to College: Tips for Students with Disabilities

“College life poses challenges for students with disabilities. When students enroll in college, they are considered responsible adults by faculty and staff. The expectations are that they will assume responsibility for meeting their class requirements. This added responsibility is coupled with a drastic change in the learning environment as well as a need to self-advocate. This session will help both parents and students understand these differences as well as provide strategies that will help them navigate the world of higher education.”
